APRIL BUILDING MAINLY CHEAP HOUSES

With the exception of one industrial building and two or three residential structures of some consequence, there is nothing of much account in the building permits issued thus far in April. The first-mentioned building, a storehouse for the Hawaiian Fertilizer Works, is the only one relative to which the estimated cost runs into five figures. Up to the 19th the total cost of new construction this month is $70,200, which makes a fair average rate for the year. Permits run very largely to cheap dwellings and lodging houses, and building operations are over-whelmingly in the hands of Japanese contractors. Following is the list of permits issued to the date mentioned:

WATERFRONT NOTES

The story of an amazing shipping disaster was told recently in King's Bench, London, in an action for damages against the Service Maritime de Treport for the loss of a quantity of mineral waters. According to the evidence, the steamship Hardy left Treport with a large cargo of mineral waters consigned to the plaintiffs, Messrs. Ingrain & Royal of London. The vessel carried also two tons of metallic sodium. The sodium broke away from its lashings, and water, getting into one case, set it afire. The captain, not being aware of the nature of the sodium, played the hose on it, with the result that all the other cases caught fire and there was a series of explosions. Next the captain ordered the whole lot heaved into the sea. This was done, but to the surprise of himself and his crew several of the cases jumped back again aboard the ship, which caught fire. There was an explosion which caused her to break amidsthips and sink. The mate was drowned and the captain and crew received injuries. Judgment was entered for the plaintiffs for $5480, with costs.
